(March 10, 2005- TROY)- The City of Troy has scheduled an additional public viewing for two buildings it is currently selling and pushed back the due date for proposals.

Mayor Harry J Tutunjian said Thursday that the City is offering up additional public viewings of the Trojan Hotel, located at 41-43 Second Street, and the former PJ's Pub, located at 218 Second Street, because of inquiries into the properties.

"These are two unique buildings, each which presents an opportunity to potential buyers for investment in historic buildings," Tutunjian said. "The Trojan Hotel is one of the more famous buildings in our downtown, and the Pub is in an area of the City where revitalization is more than a buzzword, it is a reality."

The public viewings will take place on March 15th from 9 a.m. to Noon at 218 Second Street, and from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. at 41-43 Third Street.

Another property, 8 Washington Place, is also up for bid, but will not be shown for public safety concerns.

The new deadline for bids on the properties will be March 30th at 4:30 p.m.
